When a storage device containing data capable of crippling Wall Street is stolen, Interpol agent and martial arts expert Jake Carver breaks out on a dangerous recovery mission.

Jake connects with Sellec, a small-time opportunist who is trying to sell the information. As they negotiate prices, Sellec's posh restaurant is attacked by Gordon, the strong-man for Adam, a mysterious industrialist who is also trying to acquire the data. Gordon annihilates Sellec and his clients. Jake saves Sellec's beautiful secretary Janet but is then captured by Gordon's men. Tortured and left to die in a burning farmhouse, Jake is rescued by Roy, a local police officer.

Adam is outraged when Gordon's men return empty-handed. The industrialist plans to strike again while Jake recovers at his old master's sanctuary. Garnering Roy's support, Jake also continues his search for the stolen data. He decides to see Janet first and after a passionate romantic encounter, they fall in love. The next morning Janet is abducted. Jake follows in his car and in a death-defying spectacle, he kills the kidnapers. Thinking the information is with the now hospitalized Janet, Adam once again deploys Gordon and his men.

Tearing Janet away from sick bed, they take her to Adam's awaiting helicopter. Jake arrives in the nick of time. He commandeers a medical chopper and, after a treacherous air chase, rescues Janet. Jake and Roy devise an undercover plan to stop Adam when they discover that he is really Judas, a notorious criminal who is offering the data to international terrorists and hostile governments in an attempt to blackmail America and the rest of the Free World....
