DEAD STILL

The Supernatural and Psychological Collide in the Mind of a Killer

Jacob, a fine-art photographer, lures women to his make-shift studio in an old factory to kill them and take their portrait. No one knows his secret, not his stern father who keeps the factory boilers running, nor Jacob's slick-talking agent, Richard.

When Jacob unexpectedly meets his next victim, Aimee, and tries to poison her, she struggles, hurling Jacob down a flight of stairs and knocking him unconscious.

Once he awakes, nothing is the same: Aimee has vanished, his father somehow knows his secret, his client's wife starts asking too many questions, and a detective is on his trail.

Soon, Jacob feels signs of Aimee's presence, and for the first time, he experiences an emotion... fear.

Now a haunted Jacob begins a violent and disorienting descent into his own private hell. Dead, alive, or all in his head... one way or another, she's getting him tonight.
